

Inventory Management System

Inventory Management System

The best inventory management a man can get
Whether you're a distributor, a brand owner selling wholesale or a direct to consumer eCommerce business, proper inventory management is crucial to ensuring the efficient operation of your business. TopWeb inventory management system lets small business owners like you manage your inventory, orders, and customers from one place.

Order Management

Synchronize your orders with your inventory and increase your business efficiency from order creation to fulfillment. You will be able to synchronize orders with your inventory and access sales reports, all in real time.

End-to-end Tracking

Track every item or batch in your inventory with serial number and batch tracking feature. This way, you can either always keep a track on the movement of the items or have better control over the expiry of each batch.

Purchasing

Create, edit, and email purchase orders that update inventory levels automatically while ensuring data accuracy. You can also generate reorder reports so you know exactly when to order more inventory.

Backordering

Streamline your inventory operations with backordering by pre-ordering inventory and fulfilling orders on time. Our inventory system allows you to consolidate sales orders and ensure visibility on unfulfilled orders.

Customer Relationship Management

Keep all your customer and supplier data in one place. TopWeb automatically records your customer's order and purchase history, so you can understand customer behaviors and provide a more personal customer experience.

Reports

Access accurate inventory reports that offer insights into stock movement. Our inventory management software allows you to run stock reorder reports, inventory stock on hand reports, and more.

Batch and Expiry Date Tracking.

Track different batches of items and monitor their expiry dates so that, you sell them when it is fresh.

Payment Integration

Set up and integrate your payment account to start receiving online payments right away. Switch to an easy, secure and convenient mode of accepting payment from your customers.

Order Fulfillment

Now you're able to automate and control your order fulfillment in a greater volume and at lower costs. Integrate your channels, locations, and processes for greater visibility.

